Environmental Legislation

EE008

Environmental Legislation

Environmental regulations continue to evolve, placing increasing demands on organisations to demonstrate accountability, minimise risk and maintain compliance. This one-day course provides learners with a structured overview of Irish and EU environmental legislation relevant to a wide range of industry sectors.

Designed for those with responsibility for environmental performance and regulatory compliance, the programme helps learners understand key legal obligations and prepare proactively for changes in the regulatory landscape. The training promotes an informed, strategic approach to managing environmental risk.

Who should participate?

This course is intended for those who are responsible for environmental management or compliance within their organisation. It is particularly relevant for:

- Personnel monitoring the impact of environmental legislation on business operations
- Team members involved in the maintenance or implementation of Environmental Management Systems (EMS)
- Managers and supervisors overseeing emissions, waste and environmental performance

English Language Competency

A good standard of written and spoken English is important to engage effectively with this programme.

What will I learn?

On successful completion of this course, learners will be able to:

- Develop a broad understanding of Irish and EU environmental legislation
- Interpret how key laws impact business operations and compliance strategies
- Understand the importance of environmental legislation in meeting legal and regulatory expectations outlined in ISO 14001 (Clause 4.3.2)
- Recognise the implications of major acts and directives on environmental responsibilities
- Stay informed on impending legislation relevant to their industry

These outcomes support practical understanding and confident decision-making in environmental compliance roles.

How do we train and support you?

Our training approach is practical, highly interactive and discussion-based, with flexibility to meet organisational needs:
